

SUBSTITUTE ABSTRACT

Please delete the current Abstract and replace it with the following new Abstract:

ABSTRACT

Methods and systems for assigning objects to processing units of a cluster of processing units are provided. In one implementation, the objects to be assigned may be sorted by size, which provides a sequence of objects. Starting with the first processing unit, objects may then be assigned in sequential order. This way the loading of the processing units may be balanced.